

The Herald '69

Windsor Locks High School
Windsor Locks, Connecticut

Spirit — “. . . a soul of dreams and thoughts and memories.” Carl Sandburg

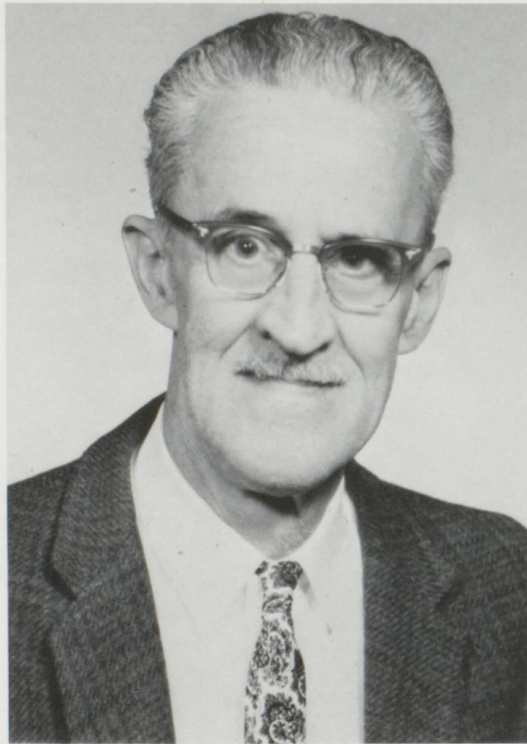

In Memoriam

J. Christian Port

He was a patient man who demanded precision from his students in all their work. Both as a missionary in South America and as a language teacher in our school, Mr. Port dedicated his life to humanity.

We knew him as 'Chettie,' a classmate with an adept sense of humor. He was quiet and reserved, yet his willingness to help showed a friendly outlook towards others.

Chester J. Ridel

Concrete and steel, halls and lockers—these are but the physical substance of a building. Carl Sandburg wrote, “It is the men and women, boys and girls so poured in and out all day that give the building a soul of dreams and thoughts and memories.” We, the Class of 1969, then, dedicate the Herald to this school building in which we have worked, played, and dreamed.

On their way to sell advertisements, P. Camarco, R. Smith, and R. Taylor receive a pep talk from Mrs. Ferrin, advisor.

D. Bourette and P. Camarco pause to consider their next sales pitch.

Business Board

L. Preli, L. Chicoine, and B. Seam explain the page prices to a potential patron.

S. Johnson, L. Preli, and Miss Dezolt, advisor, prepare the final draft of an advertisement.

F. Thompson and D. Bourette emerge triumphant from a sale.

Herald Editorial Board

Editor E. Vozzola consults with advisors Mr. Robinson and Miss Colby.

Members of the Art Staff: J. Daglio (ed.) and K. Rainey work in cooperation with T. Luscinskas, M. Rainey, and E. Meehan.

The members who will carry on the tradition of the Herald for two more years are sophomores N. Haber, L. Curry, and B. Scott.

T. Daly, J. Bednaz, and Herald's own "Mary Poppins," A. Levy, enjoy themselves before settling down for the serious business of taking the end-sheet picture.

E. Colli, Ass't Editor, is a study in concentration as she works on her page.

C. Golden checks with B. Price in order that their pages will be balanced.

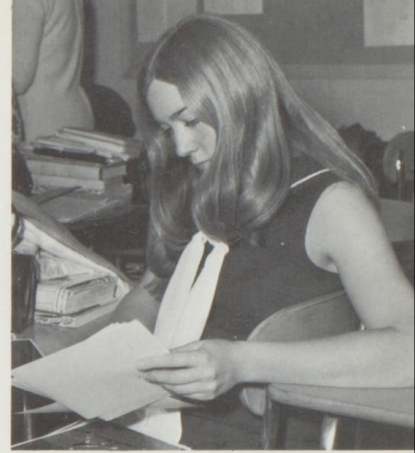

J. Bouchard and A. Barrett illustrate one of the essential jobs in Herald—aiding other members with their pages.

T. Samsvick, N. Brown, D. Milton, M. Hickey, J. Bednaz, and B. Prindle work informally on the Herald.

Members of the Biography Committee: K. Rader (ed.), J. Colello, R. Zimmerman, and C. Golden, check triplicates for mistakes.

S. Stevens looks at recently received photographs.

A. Levy, Club Editor, discusses plans for the club section with C. Suprenant.

TYPISTS: M. Janik, D. Pliszka, and D. LaPine work on an essential part of the yearbook: typing the triplicates.

B. MacDonald, P. Johnson, E. Kitchen, C. Schepart, and S. Sherman crop pictures to emphasize the highlights.

J. Thompson works out the proportions needed to fit a picture into his page layout.

D. Dombrowski, D. Fearon, R. Zimmerman, and S. Bell look for the most appropriate pictures for their pages.

Spirit

When the Herald Board chose spirit as the theme of the 1969 yearbook, we tried many approaches to attain a definition of the concept we wanted to express. We compiled lists of impressive-sounding words, brought in magazine pictures that seemed to represent spirit, and even had several meetings entirely devoted to discussions of this elusive theme. We could not arrive at any definite meaning, perhaps because it is necessary to probe deeper than any definition to reach the level of the experiences and the memories at the heart of spirit.

There was spirit in the determination which carried our class through the NEDT's, the PSAT's, the SAT's, the CEEB's, and the NMSQT's, long after the point where we began to fill in little circles in our sleep and had the phrase "Do not open this test booklet until told to do so by your instructor" indelibly implanted in our brains. Spirit kept us going when we had to take baseball pictures in the snow and Ski Club pictures in the rain. Spirit was part of the resolution to win at intramurals, to get into that particular college, or even to come out golden in a math test for once. It was the force that gave purpose to a demanding world of classes, homework, and part-time jobs, a purpose beyond a grade or a paycheck.

There was spirit in the pride in Windsor Locks High which brought us to a soccer tournament in the middle of a snowstorm or to a big basketball game on the night before a midterm. Spirit was there when we supported the teams with a "We're Number One" enthusiasm even when we came in "Number Two." It was there at the Plaza when we could look around and always see someone with a Windsor Locks jacket or T-shirt.

Spirit was in involvement. Sometimes it was an involvement in higher learning which turned our English class's solemn discussion of Hamlet into a garbled hysteria of "fishmongers" and bad puns about Hamlet's father being a "great Dane." This same spirit brought our Student Council, armed only with hoses, pails, and towels, to the school parking lot one hot June day to tackle over one hundred of Windsor Locks's dirtiest cars. It found us in the Industrial Arts rooms each spring cutting out flowers, painting murals, and building thrones. It was in the classrooms where we became more than a physical presence and, either as listening or contributing members, involved ourselves in an idea or a discussion.

We have lived in the September-June world of these experiences and memories for twelve years and have felt a spirit in the determination, the pride, and the involvement of these years. The words lived and felt are the clues to the failure of words, pictures, and discussions to define spirit. Spirit is not just a term meant to be analyzed and defined—spirit is a force to be lived and felt, a force that gives a meaning to all the experiences and memories of high school.

This year the Wilohi conducted, among students of the social studies department, an opinion poll entitled "Man of the Year." M. Bouchard (r.) notes several of the men cited, while K. MacLeod and B. Scott look on.

W i l o h i

The advisors of Wilohi, who devote much time to the production of a quality newspaper are (l. to r.): Mrs. Martin, Miss Clymer, Mrs. Ferrin.

Library Assistants

Debating Club

Membership in the Debating Club requires much research and preparation of supporting materials. Standing: Mr. Dolan, advisor. Seated: R. Angilly and S. Hill.

Dramatic Club

"Hold your breath for ten minutes," says Mr. O'Donnell as he and R. Angilly coach P. Olszewski in the act of being dead. G. Johnson, D. King and S. Good look on.

Some members of the cast try to warn J. Boyd as W. Baker plans an attack.

Speaking loudly and clearly is an important part of producing a play. Here A. King and W. Baker rehearse their lines.

"That's my wagon," shouts A. King as she dumps P. Olszewski onto the stage.

Standing for a curtain-call are (l. to r.): W. Baker, A. King, D. King, P. Olszewski, J. Garbolski, C. McMahon, and L. Curry.

"Let's take that scene over just once more," says Mr. Gatto, advisor to the club.

Chess Club

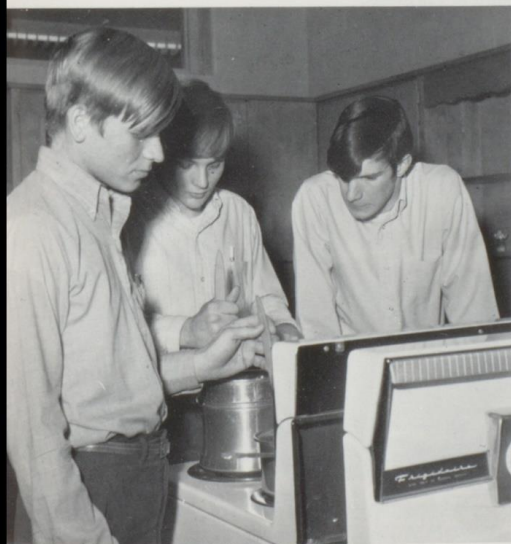

French Club

D. McNamara and B. Price prepare to roll out dough for some fancy French pastries.

Mr. Stoll and Mr. Floyd, advisors, show that French cuisine requires much attention.

"Physics experiments are easier than this," says G. Nicholson, as M. Nowak and D. Milton offer assistance.

B. Price seems to be telling C. Surprenant to "Eat it, or else," as M. Nowak builds up his courage.

Band

The members of the band are, top row (l. to r.): D. Bongiorno, C. Barteaux, B. Prindle, M. Giddings, C. Aber, L. Castonguay, R. Zimmerman, C. Surprenant, J. Bouchard. middle row: G. Law, S. The band opened the winter concert with "The Spirit of Christmas."

The first few moments are a little tense . . .

. . . but soon the band is relaxed and confident.

Chorus

Many weeks of practice precede the performance.

The choral performance in the winter concert included a variety of seasonal songs ...

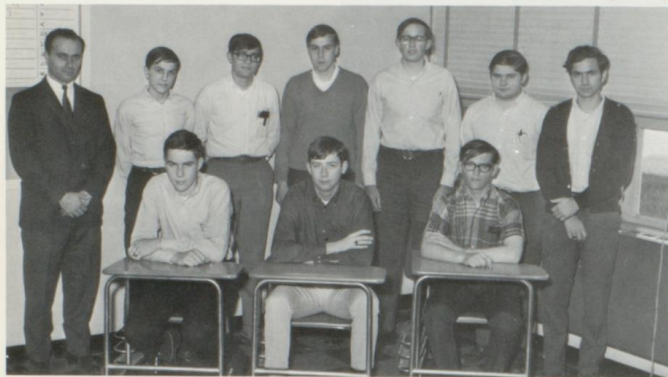

... and was highlighted by a special arrangement of traditional Christmas hymns.

The members of the chorus are: N. Barron, C. Barry, J. Barteaux, M. Bouchard, N. Brown, C. Crapo, J. Daglio, D. Dom-browski, D. Fearon, J. Gamble, L. Guastamachio, D. Gelinas, D. Hawkins, K. Holley, D. King, S. Kingston, L. Kotcha, D. Lappen, G. Law, A. Levy, B. Light, J. Marinone, C. Marshall, A. Matthews, L. Matthews, B. McDonald, E. Meehan, C. Plante, D. Pliszka, M. Pesce, B. Price, B. Puncavage, B. Raimondi, D. Redding, L. Ruggiero, D. Samson, D. Schwerdtfeger, B. Scott, S. Wakeman, S. Ward, R. Zimmerman.

Photography Club

Three photographers prepare to enlarge a picture for the bulletin board.

Mr. Weichman, advisor, carefully hands the correct chemicals to J. Thompson and R. Ahern.

This eager chemist can hardly wait to get his Captain Marvel goggles.

Chemistry Club

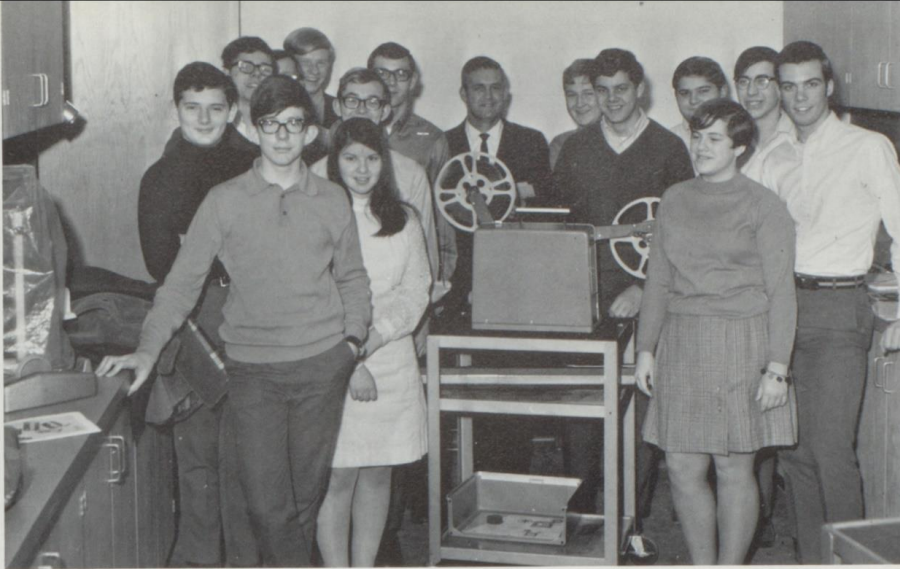

Biology Club

Members of the Biology Club are, (l. to r.): Miss Bader, advisor, A. Tyrrell, R. Zimmerman, D. LaPine, C. Plantt.

"You mean we were supposed to take the fish out first?"

Audio- Visual Aids Club

One of the most hardworking clubs in our school is also the one that has the most fun. The members pictured are: J. Allen, R. Angilly, W. Baker, M. Giddings, R. Hubbard, R. Iskrazak, H. Kane, R. Kidwell, C. Marshall, J. Meehan, W. Pauluh, L. Rouleau, James Uchneat, Joseph Uchneat. Mr. Randall is the AVA advisor.

"Are you sure that's the right bulb?"

"Maybe this would work better on the projector."

"Don't stop for anything. Get this up to Room 205 right away!"

"Let's get the word from Headquarters."

77

These four ski lovers prepare for the long ride to the northern ski slopes.

The cold, crisp air and snowy hills add up to a perfect day for these skiers.

Ski Club

"And if you do this right, we'll win."

H. Tersavich blocks an opponent and allows F. Aniello to gain control of the ball.

R. Reardon practices corner kicking.

Facial expressions portray the events of the game.

Dave O'Connor knows the meaning of frustration.
80

R. Lupacchino scuffles to outmaneuver his opponent.

Assistant Coach Weichman, Coach Sullivan, Co-captains R. Reardon and D. O'Connor, and goalie T. Koren exhibit the team spirit that goes into a successful soccer season.

J. Carnevale guides the ball down the field.

Soccer

H. Tersavich succeeds in taking the ball away from the opposing team.

THE TEAM: front row (l. to r.): S. Swede, R. Rumbold, R. Lupacchino, T. Banach, W. McAdorey, D. O'Connor, R. Nussbaum, J. Novakowski, H. Tersavich, J. Carnevale, R. Akerlind, J. Cross-Country

As the gun sounds, the runners begin the 2½ mile run.

Strategy plays an important part in the race.

The cross-country runner develops his pace through many miles of running.

R. Chapman leads his teammate D. Lunn in a close race.

B. Prindle crosses the finish line in his final effort.

After the race, the team discusses the results.

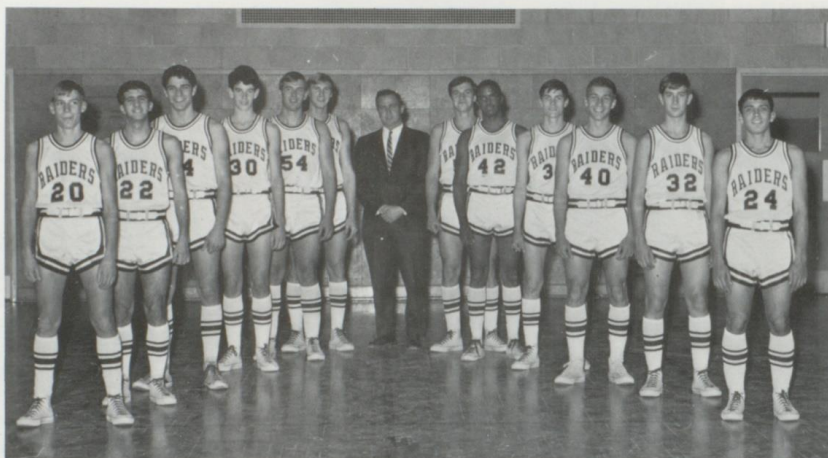

Tom Koren and Fran Aniello out-muscle the opposition to grab a vital rebound.

Basketball

Vinnie Colapietro scores on a dazzling lay-up.

Steve Szykula gets into the thick of the battle.

John Carnevale adds two more points to the Raiders' score.

Tom Guglielmone protects the ball from two defenders.

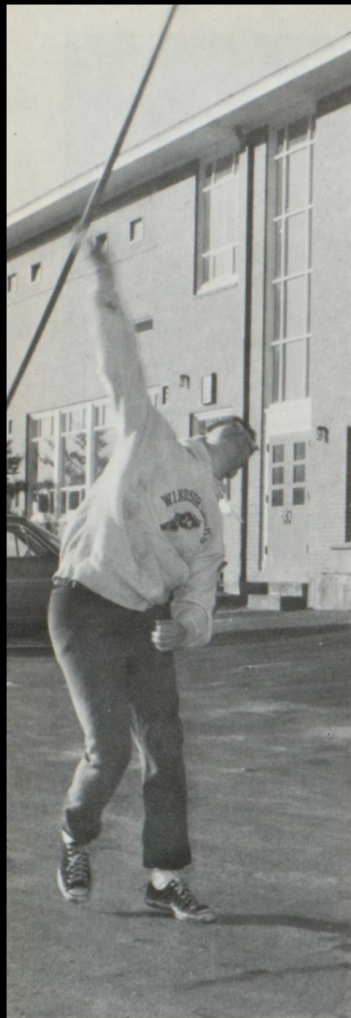

Fran Aniello leaps high for the basket.

(lower left) Dale Misiek struggles to gain control of the ball after a rebound.

C. Schepart reaches the full extension of a perfect javelin throw.

D. Fritz struggles for a good shot put.

The high hurdle is no obstacle to M. Lawsing.

R. Clifford displays form that is the result of pure talent and hard work.

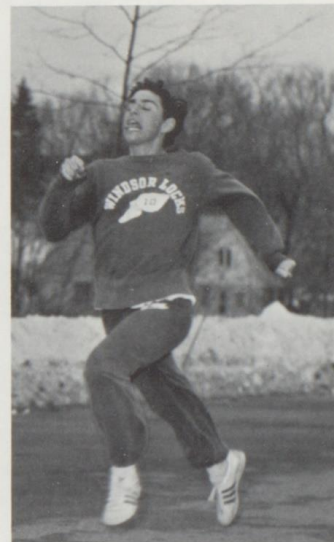

Track

THE TRACK TEAM: first row (l. to r.): R. Chapman, R. Clifford, J. Sawyer, C. Schepart, R. Dakin, B. Prindle. second row: P. Sarant, coach, W. Walker, M. Nowak, M. Lawsing, R. Nussbaum, P. (Absent, T. Daly, D. Fritz)

The track team thinks seriously about their demanding schedule.

M. Gagnolati puts on a burst of speed.

Determination is the key to the success of M. Nowak.

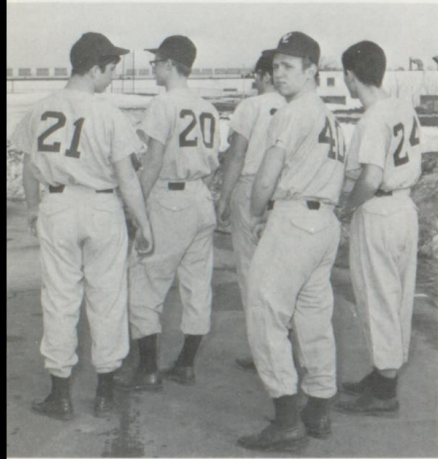

Coach Sarant's expression reveals T. Daly's improved time.

Dave O'Connor takes a mighty swing.

Baseball

According to my calendar, it's spring!

Dale Misiek covers first.

88 Anybody seen the supply manager?

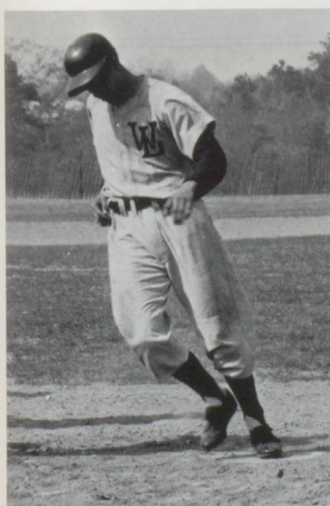

Coach Sullivan reveals his offensive strategy.

Dale Misiek cracks a double.
